DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN ANXIOUS.

WONDERING WHAT THE NEW-YORK CONVENTION WILL DO-TALK ABOUT CLEVELAND AND BAYARD.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Washingron, June 13 .- While the fever of Presidential speculation among Democratic Conmen has reached a settled stage and will not be broken until after the National Convention meets, it was less active to-day than yesterday. Interest in the Tilden letter has already given way to anxiety in regard to the action of the New-Convention next Wednesday, the probabilities of which are canvassed with much earnestness. Almost every Democratic Consman believes that in case New-York goes to the National Convention solid for Cleveland, he will be the Presidential nominee. In that event, the current of opinion among Democratic politicians in Washington indicates the nomination of William R. Morrison for Vice-President, although there are symptoms of a secret under-current of feeling against him because he was a Union soldier. One Democrat to-day said: "It may be well enough to place a soldier on the ticket for sentimental reasons, but I do not believe it will affect many votes, even among the old soldiers." This Democrat thinks that if Cleveland is to be nominated, the second place on the ticket ought to be given to Carlisle as a representative of the South and West, as well as of the "Revenue reformers." It is not likely, however, that the views above expressed will prevail in the convention, even if a Democrat can be found with the courage to advocate them.

WORRIED OVER THE FLOWER "BOOM." There is reason to believe that while Colonel Morrison would be willing to accept the second place on a ticket with Cleveland, he could not be induced to do so if Flower should happen to capture the first place. There is no disguising the fact that the Flower "boom" is causing Democratic politicians in Washington considerable uneasiness. While they affect to believe that Tilden favors Cleveland, and that Manning and his machine will be able to control the New-York Convention in his interest, they are disturbed by the daily reports showing that Flower is picking up a great many delegates, as well as by intimations that John Kelly and Tammany Hall are for him. Moreover, some of them have begun to fear that Flower will develop unexpected strength in the convention among delegates from several of the Southern and Western States. The New-York Democratic Congressmen generally deny the stories about Flower's strength in his own State and declare that when the State Convention meets his "boom" will suddenly vanish.

There was less talk to-day about Bayard as a probable candidate, and the general drift of opinion seemed to favor the nomination of a Western man in case New-York shall be unable to unite on a candidate from that State. This feeling revived interest in McDonald and Morrison, and led to some talk in favor of Thurman. Senator Voorhees thinks the candidate must be taken from "the great and growing West." He is for McDonald, whose nomination, he declares, "would make the electoral vote of Indiana safe for the Democrats." He thinks the strongest ticket would be McDonald and Cleveland, and that Blaine would carry Indiana against Bayard, whose financial views would make him weak in Indiana and throughout the West.

BECK FOR CLEVELAND OR BAYARD. Senator Beek, on the other hand, thinks that next to Cleveland, Bayard is the strongest man. The Delaware Senator he believes would carry New-York, Connecticut, New-Jersey and Nevada, which, with the Solid South, would be more than which, with the Solid South, would be more than enough to elect him. To a Critic reporter Senator Beck said: "Looking the whole field over, I am inclined to think that it is the duty of the convention to nominate Cleveland or Bayard. I am sure that Bayard can carry every Southern State, for certainly no man in the South, not even General Mahone or General Longstreet, could object to him, because he was friendly to them during the war; and I don't think the people up North, especially in New-York, New-Jersey and Connecticut, twenty years after the war, are going to bother themselves worth about how a man sympathized during the years after the war, are going to much about how a man sympathized during the much about how a man sympathized during the war."

"How would McDonald and Slocum do, Senator?"

"I would have favored that ticket." Mr. Beck said, "if the Republicans had nominated a Western man. But by nominating an Eastern man our fight is transferred from the West to the East. Therefore I am constrained to think it our bounden duty to get a man from the East to run against Blaine. The feeling against Blaine in the East is very bitter among his own party followers. I learned more of this when I was up at Duffy's the other day than I had ever supposed. Yet, we want to be careful and put forward a good man and a strong platform. These are my views."

and put forward a good man and a strong platform. These are my views."

Mr. Dorsheimer is an earnest supporter of Cleveland. He said: "If a delegation in his favor shall go to Chicago and present his name with firmness and energy, he will, I think, be nominated. As to the platform, the party should stand by the declarations of 1876 and 1880. Any one who observes the expressions of dissatisfied Republicans will notice that a reform in the revenue is the most important of their objects. It is the only issue upon which we can look for accessions from the Republican party. A doubtful and evasive declaration upon that subject would, in my opinion, be fatal."

The indications of Blaine's popularity among the evasive declaration upon that subject would, in my opinion, be fatal."

The indications of Blaine's popularity among the Irish-American voters are giving the Democrats some uncasiness. According to The Mar, "a prominent Democrat whose course in public life has been such as to command the confidence of Irish-Americans" to-day said: "I tell you we are in danger of losing a considerable portion of the Irish-Americans" to-day said: "I tell you we are in danger of losing a considerable portion of the Irish vote, and we will lose it unless we nominate aman whom they feel to be friendly to Ireland. Blaine is popular with the Irish, and there are over 200,000 Irish voters in New-York. They are all organized, too, and while they say but little, the time has come when they will not aid to put in power men suspected of friendship for England and the English. But the Irish-American is a Democrat from priceiple, and he will not desert his party unless it is put in the position of antagonizing other principles dear to the Irish heart—the freedom of the Irish at home from the thraldom of British tyranny."

OHIO DEMOCRATS DEMORALIZED.

TALK ABOUT A WESTERN MAN-M'LEAN THOUGHT TO BE FOR PAYNE.

IRY TELEGRAPH TO THE THIBUNE. CINCINNATI, June 13 .- Tilden's letter of declination has demoralized the Democracy of Ohio and Cincinnati. Before its receipt the practical unantinity of the party on the question of his candidacy was such that no other man was worth thinking about. Now the majority of the real workers of the party still refuse to consider him out of the race, though the thinking members accept his answer as final. Said one prominent local Democrat to-day: "If Tilden is nominated at Chicago, and I think he will be, he will accept. Not that he wants it, but he will not refuse such a compliment. He can yet stand the worry of a cam-

Such talk is plentiful here and is general throughout the State. Meanwhile the contingent remainder of Tilden seems most likely to fall to Thurman, though Cleveland seems to push him closely in Cincinnati. A numerously signed call is being circulated for the formation of a Thurman Club to go to Chicago, in which he is called the "grandest statesman of his age, whose nomination will be equivalent to his election, and who would inspire enthusiasm from Maine to the Pacific Ocean." Thurman was talked with at Columbus last night, but he jocosely was talked with at Columbus last night, but he jocosely avoided a direct answer to a leading question.

Talk of nominating a Western man is frequent, and Thurman, Hendricks and McDonald are most often mentioned. The last, however, may be considered practically out of the race. The knowledge that there are social and personal considerations of an exceedingly delicate and personal nature is pretty general through Ohio and Indiana, and McDonald is no longer a serious factor. When the Democracy settle down to the conviction that Tilden is really out of the race, there is but little doubt that Thurman will be the choice of a large majority in this State.

CLEVELAND'S STRENGTH IN NEW-YORK. THE MANNING MACHINE DECLARES ITS ABILITY TO CONTROL THE STATE CONVENTION.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE T IEUNE.] ALBANY, June 13 .- The election of delegates to the Democratic State Convention has practically closed, and the Manning machine has been getting its bearings to-night from the returns. The managers estiforty delegates, in a convention of 384. These are thick and thin Cleveland-Manning men, and the estimate is based on personal letters from delegates or from their owners, pledging allegiance to the machine programme. When the full pressure of the old Tilden politicians, like Messrs. Manuing, Magene, Hill, Smith M. Weed, Maxwell, Thompson and others is brought to bear, as it will be early next week, the machine counts on reducing the Flawer insurgents to less than one-third of the convention, and before the convention votes they confidently believe that all hands will jump aboard the Cleveland train, and that resolutions approving Cleveland will be carried through. In some of the interior districts the anti-Tiden leaders have been disposed to take up Bayard as a better man to accomplish their purpose of breaking the machine than Flower, but their followers have insisted that Bayard's Seuthern sympathies at the outbreak of the War would weaken him among rural Democrats who, as a class, were loyal. The Bayard idea, which was seriously entertained at some centres of revolt during the earlier part of the week, has therefore been abandoned. The machine to-night counts on having fifty national delegates from this State sure. It allows Flower twelve at the maximum and ten it concedes to be chosen by districts which are in doubt. This, however, is an estimate put forward by Manning to Influence doubtful delegates. The Flower managers assert that there is no doubt that he will control the convention, notwithstanding all the power of the late officials. Mr. Tiden, it is said, does not favor Cleveland, believing that his nomination would be unwise.

BAD BLOOD. IBT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. ROCHESTER, June 13 .- A typical Democratic convention was held in this city to-night, in the form of the city convention to select delegates to the State convention at Saratoga. The fight previous to the primaries has been pitter, and has been waged between Cleveland and anti-Cleveland factions. The former was led by George Raines, and the latter by William Purcell, Editor of The Union. Raines has acted as Cleveland's adviser in this portion of the State, and has had under his control all the State patronage in this region. It is also understood that the Governor appointed Thomas Raines, a brother of the ex-Senator, special County Judge last winter, the latter promising to send Cleveland delegates to the State Convention. Purcell has been favoring the "old ticket," which was decidedly popular in this County. Raines soon saw that the tide was against him, and he was thus driven to desperate straits.

has been known for two weeks that in case he was defeated at primaries he would manage to get a conte sting dele gation to the State Convention. At the primaries las night Purceil carried ten warde and Raines six. He had, nowever, contesting delegations from two or three wards. Lively times were therefore expected at the city convention to-night, and as a result the City Hall was filled. The City Central Committee named ex-County Judge Rowley chairman, and he being declared elected took the platform. At this Raines's men with great noise yelled for Raines, and he immediately took the platform on the plea that he had been selected chairman. He named two secretaries, who took their places at his side and meekly obeyed his orders. Raines was well backed by the rufflan element of the city, while a larre majority of the delegates were shouting for Rowley and Purcell.

The confusion was so great that nothing could be heard or done. Policemen were called in to quell the disturbance but their efforts were useless. For two hours nothing was done but shouting. At his bidding Raines's secretaries called the roll and at last he declared Walter B. Duffy, George Raines and George Rosenberg elected delegates. He then withdrew with portions of four delegations, and Judge Rowley proceeded with his convention. After roll call, it was announced that William Purcell, Jacob Gerling and E. B. Chase had been elected regular delegates to Saratoga. Much ill-feeling exists, which it will be impossible to allay before the November elections. city convention to-night, and as a result

DISCOURAGED BY TILDEN'S LETTER. Kingston, N. Y., June 13.-Since the letter of Mr. Tilden was published the Democrats have seemed greatly disconicerted. No one else was thought of for the nomination. The various ward primaries were held last night, and elected Tilden-Cieveland delegates.

DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL LEANINGS. The election of delegates to the Democratic State Convention by the various Assembly District conventions in this city has been nearly completed. The County Democracy, Tammany Hall, Irving Hall and the ventions in this city has been nearly completed. The County Democracy, Tammany Hall, Irving Hall and the O'Brien Democracy will send full lists of delegates. It seems to be generally understood that the three first named will be allowed representation in the convention; but whether the O'Brien Democracy will be allowed representation is not known. It bases its claim on the fact that James O'Brien poiled more than 18,000 votes for Register last Inil. The representation in the last two State Conventions has been as follows: County Democracy, 38; Tammany Hall, 24; Irving Hall, 10. Total, 72. If the O'Brien Democracy is recognized, the representation xill be changed somewhat.

The County Democracy delegates are solid for Governor Cleveland. So are the Irving Hall delegates controlled by Sheriff Davidson. But it is asserted that Irving Hall is not a unit, in this particular, and that some of the delegates may be found favoring Bayard or Flower. Tammany Hall gives out that it facors Bayard, but if Flower requires its vote to give him a majority of the convention, he is pretty sure to receive it. The O'Brien delegates are unanimously for Flower. This was to be expected, because O'Brien has been engaged for months in working up Flower's boon in this city and throughout the State. It was asserted yesterday by a well-informed Democratic politician that the context will be so close between Cleveland and Flower that, the votes of the Kings Country delegation will be likely to decide it. Theore is rireints claim fifteen of the Congressional Districts outside of New-York and Kings Counties.

There promises to be an unusual number of contests before the State Convention.

The County Democracy Executive Committee met last evening at the headquarters, No. 1 Union Square, and made arrangements for attending the State Convention at Saratoga on June 18. A special train of the West Shore Railroad will leave Weehawken at 10:30 on Tuesday morning. About 350 or 400 delegates and others will go on this train.

Officeholders and ex-officeholders liberally besprinkle the delegation. Among liberally besprinkle the delegation. Among the best known delegates are Senator Jacobs, Assemblymen Butier and Lindsay, Police Justice Walsh, County Auditor Lake, "Jim" Dunne, keeper of the City Hall and ex-prize fighter: ex-Alderman Billy" Dwyer, Augustus Van Wyck, chairman of the Democratic General Committee, and Alderman Sterling, McCarty, Curran, Mathis and Roesch. Governor Cleveland is mentioned by some of the delegates as first choice, and others say that Bayard and Sloeum would make a good ticket. General Sloeum is credited with no desire for the second place.

A NEW RULE WHICH THE MEN OBJECT TO-STAG-NATION IN THE TRADE.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.1 TRENTON, June 13.-Two hundred operatives in the Alpaugh & Magowan potteries in this city went on strike this morning because of the posting of a new rule requiring employes to report for duty at 7 a. m., and to work ten hours, unless sooner relieved by a written permit from the firm. Most of the men work by the piece, and often are through their day's work in much less than ten hours. The principal ground of complaint less than ten hours. The principal ground of complaint is that under the new rule thase men will have to wait around two or three hours after their work is done unless they can find one of the firm to give them a permit to leave. At a meeting on the common near the potteries this norming the men determined not to go to work again until the obnoxious rule was rescinded. There is stagnation in the pottery market at present owing to overproduction, and it is surmised that the employers are not altogether averse to have the strike continue for some time.

Belfast, June 13 .- The American Lacrosse team von here to-day in a game in which they had reasonably feared defeat. The team opposing them represents five clubs of the Irish Lacrosse Union and considered the strongest in the United Kingdom. Yet after a hard fight the visitors won by three goals to two. The play was for the greatest number of goals in two three quarter hours beginning at 5 o'clock. It was evident from the beginning that the result would be close. The Irish played beautifully, passing, throwing and dodging finely. In the first three quarters the visitors had to play on the defensive for the first time on their trip, but at the end of twenty minutes Nichols got the ball, rushed to the Irish flags, passed the ball to Poe, who cunningly sent it home amid applause. But three min-utes later Sinclair, of the Irish team, by a beautiful throw sent the rubber between the American flags scoring a goal. This was the second goal against the Americans on British soil. Then there was sharp all-round-field-play till half time was called.

In the second half, in ten minutes, Johnston from behind dropped the ball before the Irish flags and Ritchie shied it home. Six minutes later Poe got the ball, dodged and threw it to Stuart, who also dodged down the field and threw the rubber over the Irish goal-keeper's head. Then there was defen-sive play by the Irish until three minutes before the game ended when suddenly Sinelair again scored for his team, but at the close the score was three to two in favor of the Americans. MR. HOLMES'S CONTRIBUTION.

LONDON, June 13 .- Oliver Wendell Holmes has written a letter to the Rev. Mr. Winslow, of Boston, the explorer of Zoan, in which he encloses $5 for the Egyptian exploration fund. Mr. Holmes, in his letter "The exploring spade has furnished the tribes of says: "The exploring spade has furnished the tribes of mankind with water, coal, fron and gold, and is now giving them historic truth the mines of which have never been opened until our times. It seems to me that the whole Christian and the whole Hebrew world should be as much interested in the excavation of Zoan as the classic world was in that of Troy, Mycenæ or Assos. My Guinea hen doesn't lay as many golden eggs as the more prolific fowls of some of my neighbors; but one of them is at your service to hatch a spade for Zoan."

THE MOVEMENT STARTED IN BOSTON. IT IS NOT OF A SORT TO TROUBLE THE LEADER OF

A TARIFF PARTY. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] AUGUSTA, June 13 .- The tone of the apostate Republican papers does not disturb Mr. Blaine any more than does the free-trade movement inaug-urated in Massachusetts which culminated to-night. Representative Boutelle, one of Mr. Blaine's active supporters, who stopped here to-night on his way to Washington, when asked what he thought of the protest against Mr. Blaine's nomination by the socalled Republicans and Independents in the Old Bay State, which was published in the Boston papers that reached here this afternoon and which was signed by a thousand names, said.

Miss. L. A. Store, No. 193 West John-st.—My darling wife: I thus address you as my darling wife, and I hope and pray to God, as I expect to be in his presence before you get this, that it will be for the last time. Three times have I tried to take my life and failed, and that within a month. I hope and pray to God I will not fail this time. I have loved you and love you still, but your sister treated me like a tramp and you took sides with them and turned me out like a dog. It will come home to you all before you die. I want to die and will die if God will let me. I pray that he may. If you had treated me right when I first came home this would not have happened, but die I must. I cannot live without you. It is killing me by mehes. It is hell on earth to part as we last parted, but this parting will be the last. But you will have cause to remember me, one that you will never forget. I never treated you ill. I was always kind to you when you were not kind to me. I never married you for your money. I married you for a good wife, which you proved to be until your people turned you against me. Then trouble began. If you had treated me right, I would have been a different man. I am writing this in my right mind. Your sister turned your family against me. Then you turned against me. This is the worst of you. Bury me without much fuss, and decently. There is a claim of $40 for me at Marion Lodge yet. This is all I have got to say, except you will see my ghost in that house every night. I will come back to haunt you all.

One thing there is, especially, in the trunk that you want—money." " Well, I have not given much attention to it; but it looks to me much like a free-trade movement. The man, I notice, who heads the list of signers [Henry L. Pierce] is the gentleman who was in favor of unseating the Electoral Commission in 1876 and giving the election to Tilden and Hendricks. The second name that follows [Charles R. [Codman] is that of a man who is the agent of the Clyde ship builders, who for a dozen years has been hostile to our navigation laws and in favor of free ships. When I saw the names of these two men heading the list, I did not care to look at the remaining names affixed to the call for the Boston meeting to-night, presuming that the principles of the two I have spoken of were indicative of the remainder. No, I do not think that the thousand names that they say are signed to the call is a big list, or a reflex of popular sentiment. In a large city like Boston it is an easy matter to get that number of names to almost

Other prominent Republicans seem little concerned about the Massachusetts malcontents and their course. The movement is generally regarded as in the interests of free trade. One gentleman remarked: "It is well remembered that in 1872 a greater hostility was displayed toward General Grant in Massatility was displayed toward General Grant in Massachusetts than is now shown there toward Mr. Blaine, and the fact cannot be forgotten that on the day of election there were few desertions from the party. When the day of battle, comes all true Republicans will vote as their conscience tells them, and that will be for Blaine and victory. No, sir, the tariff plank in the platform had a good deal to do with Mr. Blaine's nomination and the Republicans who oppose him are free traders."

This forenoon Mr. Blaine and his family were given a musical catertainment in the parlors of his house by a travelling company of artists who happened to be here.

REASONS FOR SUPPORTING THE TICKET. A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY TO BE AVOIDED-MR. BLAINE'S CAREER.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Boston, June 13 .- F. A. Allen, of Cambridge who was invited to the free-trade [anti-Blains meeting in Boston to-day, sent a reply which was not read at the meeting. The following is the substance of the letter:

read at the meeting. The following is the substance of the letter:

I decline to attend such a meeting, because I believe in and heartily indorse the principles of the Republican party as announced in the Chicago platform, and an opposed to the "policy" of the Democratic party as shown by their action in Congress. It seems clear that one or the other of the two great political parties must rate during the next four years, and I am called upon to decide which I prefer—the principles and traditions of the old Republican party. Any movement which leads to defeat the Republican party must place the Government in the hands of the Democrats. Relieving as I do that this would result in retarding the progress of this country for a lifetime, I feel constrained to do what I can to prevent such a catastrophe.

In regard to the nominations made at Chicago, I do not forget that President Garifield selected Mr. Blaine to flit the most important place in his Cabinet. President Garifield had served nearly twenty years in Congress with Mr. Blaine. This gave him an opportunity enjoyed by but few other men in this country to judge of Mr. Blaine's fitness to hold a postion of high trust and responsibility. I have more confidence in President Garifield's judgment than in newspaper reports, which are liable to be colored by prejudice. I have heard no unfavorable crittelsm upon Mr. Blaine since the death of President Garifield and to the present day. On the contrary, I have understood his course to have been highly commended by every one. If he was a suitable man to hold a high office during the life of our late President, I fail to see why he is not qualified at this time. Upon the above grounds, and with my strong belief in the principles of the Republican party, I am glad to accept the choice of the great majority of that party in the selection of a candidate for the Presidency. any knowledge of the disposition of the securities of the bank, but kept his books only from the blotter and become of the missing $300,000 or $400,000, said he did not believe the Middletons had speculated in stocks, or and the large amount or securities, and openly urged as legal steps to find where these funds lwere.
